EGLE requires a minimum of the following fields be provided on the line-by-line inventory:

- o Physical address that specifies the location of the building and subsequent service line
- o Service line material classification for each portion of the service line.
- o Verification method for determining material classification.
- o Documentation of when access was denied.

Note: Access denied documentation should be kept in the system's records and be available for EGLE review upon request. These documents should include the date of the denial, to whom the denial was communicated, and the denial itself in writing.
